

Prepositions of Positions

These prepositions can be used to refer to a place where something or someone is located.

"In" denotes being inside something, "on" indicates being on a surface, "behind" refers to being behind something, "under" implies being below something, "beside" is used to be next to something, "over" denotes being on top of something, "between" denotes being between two or more objects, and "in front of" means being in front of something.

These prepositions are essential for communicating location accurately in the English language.

Below are some sentences in which the use of the prepositions in, on, behind, below, next to, in front of, between and above is evident.

- The cat is in the box.
- The book is on the table.
- The pencil is behind the notebook.
- The shoes are under the bed.
- The flower vase is beside the window.
- The kite is flying over the field.
- The sandwich is between two slices of bread.
- The car is parked in front of the house.

